KNOX DECLARES "COLLISION" IN FAR EAST INEVITABLE

SECRETARY OF NAVY REVEALS SITUATION EXTREMELY STRAINED

By the Associated Press

Secretary of the Navy Knox declared flatly today that a "collision" the Far East was virtually inevitable, while in Tokyo, a Japanese government spokesman took the opposite view, that the situation between the United States and Japan had eased.

"The situation in the Far East is extremely strained," Knox said, addressing a group of naval munitions manufacturers.

"We are satisfied in our own minds that the Japanese have no tention of giving up their plans for expansion. If they pursue that urse, a collision there is inevitable."

Knox's electric pronouncement came less than 48 hours after the apan Times and Advertiser, controlled by the Tokyo foreign office, offered the anti-Axis powers a "last chance" to use Japan's services as a ediator in the European war.

The newspaper warned, however, that Japan was ready to fight the nited States to protect her interests in the Orient, and other Japanese ewspapers bitterly assailed the United States, charging that this country was attempting to gain bases in Soviet Siberia for use against Japan.

Otherwise, news from the Far East in recent days had given little dication that the situation was near the breaking-point.

The Japanese government permitted Japanese ships to depart for e United States, after a prolonged period of avoiding American ports. n the other hand, dispatches from Manila and Shanghai said various nited States liners had been suddenly ordered to cancel cruises to the rient and return to "friendly" ports.

Soviet front-line dispatches acknowledged the situation was "alarming in all sectors" on the Ukraine front today, with heavy fighting raging on the approaches to Rostov-on-Don, while claims from both sides listed a staggering total of more than 10,000,000 men killed and wounded in the four-months-old campaign.

Although the Red armies clearly appeared to be holding firmly before Moscow, the grave new danger to Russia's vital war foundries on the southern front was emphasized in reports to the army newspaper, Red Star.

The newspaper reported "bloody hand-to-hand fighting . . . immense losses" in battles around Stalino, 100 miles northwest of Rostov, and at nearby Makeevka, with the Germans hurling great masses of tanks and troops into a drive to engulf the entire Donets river industrial basin.

In Berlin, the authorized commentary, Dienst aus Deutschland, even went so far as to say that "the liberation of the Donets basin is imminent." If true, this would strike a hard blow at Russia's war supplies, since the Donets basin is the source of great iron, coal and manganese deposits, and Rostov, near the mouth of the Don river, is the key to the Caucasus oil fields.

British General Sir Archibald P. Wavell, commander-in-chief for India has nearly 1,000,000 men in the Middle East awaiting the signal to march north through Iran (Persia) into the Caucasus to bolster the battered Red armies in the Ukraine.

Perhaps in a move to seal the Middle East's "back door" for such an operation, British and Free French troops were reported striking into French Somaliland today, driving 30 miles into the little French colony on the Gulf of Aden.

JAP SPOKESMAN SAYS SITUATION WITH U. S. EASED

Cites American Decision to Send Russian War Aid Via Northwestern Port Rather Than Through Pacific

CALL IMPERIAL DIET

Tokyo, Oct. 24—(.P)—The imperial diet was summoned today for a five-day special meeting November 15 almost at the same time that a Japanese government spokesman pronounced the situation between Japan and the United States eased by an indicated American decision to send Russia war aid via the northwestern port of Archangel rather than the Pacific port of Vladivostok.

The statement was made by Koh Ishii, spokesman for the cabinet information bureau, in a conference with foreign correspondents in which he said Japan had explained every point of her stand in recent talks at Washington and now awaited the reaction of President Roosevelt and Secretary of State Cordell Hull::

"You'd better ask Mr. Hull, since everything was explained to him and Mr. Roosevelt," was Ishii's reply to a question whether Japan was hopeful of settling her difficulties with the United States.

The five-day special parliamentary session will study supplementary budget estimates and taxation urgently needed in the existing situation and will give the new government of Premier General Hideki Tojo an opportunity to show its determination in carrying out national policies, Domei said.

Another reason probably is to organize more complete utilization of Japan's industrial resources.

In a question-and-answer exchange, Ishii:

Indicated that government opinion was stated correctly in Japanese editorials saying Japan would not back down on her new order for East Asia;

Disclaimed credit for the government for the editorials in the foreign office-controlled Japan Times and Advertiser offering anti-Axis

WOULD PERMIT LOANS

Washington, Oct. 24—(.P)—Legislation (HR 5904) to authorize the Veterans' Administration to make loans up to $1 000 to disabled veterans of the World War for use as down payments on the purchase of homes was introduced yesterday by Representative Weiss (D-Pa).

DENTAL CARE TO BE INCREASED BY BOARD

Harrisburg, Oct. 24—(.P)—The state board of public assistance has agreed to increase dental care for relief families and to provide such physical aids as trusses and braces for handicapped needy attempting to get jobs.

The board will meet next month to re-consider proposals to increase rent allowances as a result of rising costs. Philadelphia, Allegheny, Luzerene and Lackawanna counties have petitioned for higher rent grants, and the board has three plans for increasing shelter allowances before it.

REPORT LEHIGH STRUCK BY HIT AND RUN RAIDER

Freetown, Sierre Leone, Oct. 24. (.P)—The United States-owned freighter Lehigh, sunk 75 miles west of Freetown, is pictured by her skipper as the victim of a hit-and-run torpedo attack from a submarine which none of the crew ever saw.

Capt. Vincent Arkins, the commander, said last night the torpedo struck the Lehigh at 8:55 a. m. Sunday on the starboard side of No. 5 hatch, blasted down the main topmast and injured two of the 44 men aboard.

A falling hatch beam cut off four toes of a seaman, and a junior assistant engineer, Joseph Brady, was shaken up by a fall when deck plates were torn apart beneath him.

Neither before nor after the attack, Captain Arkins said, was the submarine seen, and there was no offer of aid.

All four lifeboats were manned and launched by the men aboard—

DISAGREE ON FRAUD CONTROL

Sharp Differences Develop Over Procedure For Curbing Over-Payments In Pennsylvania Unemployment Compensation Division; Committee Criticizes Officials

PROPER POLICING IS DECLARED LACKING

Harrisburg, Oct. 24—(.P)—Sharp differences developed today over procedure for curbing fraud in Pennsylvania's Unemployment Compensation Division, which handles millions of dollars a year in jobless benefit payments.

A special investigating committee of the joint state government commission research group for the general assembly—said Lewis G. Hines, secretary of labor and industry "and others apparently x x x have not been doing an effective job in administering the unemployment compensation law."

Ernest Kelly, chief of the division, told the committee yesterday in a hearing, that the law itself was to blame and advocated a modified version of the English stamp system.

Hines asserted the committee was authorized to handle legislative matters but added:

"If they want to get political, I can get political too, and tell them some things they already know about how the bureau was administered by the Democrats."

The committee, headed by Senator John H. Dent (D-Westmoreland) is investigating a report by Deputy Attorney General David R. Perry that thousands of dollars have been paid in fraudulent claims and that there was insufficient personnel to properly police the system.

William W. Bardsley, regional representative of the Social Security Board, differed with Perry and said later in a statement that "the board has granted funds for more persons (in the legal section) than were being used at least report for checking benefit claims.

In a statement the committee said it was "evident that any charges of lack of additional personnel" to check up on claims, "are traceable directly to the failure of the department to properly use the personnel which has already been approved by the Social Security Board."

"The puzzle of procedure and treatment of claims which has been blamed for wholesale fraud is being slowly but certainly untangled," the statement added.

The committee continued its inquiry until next Wednesday and asked Kelly, his assistant William F. Collier, and Thomas Lane, chief of the benefit payment section, to return then. Hines also was invited but said he would be unable to attend.

Kelly told the group that under present law it was impossible to eliminate fraud and that $396,124 had been paid out in such claims since 1938. Of this mount, he added, all but $22,552 collected by persons now dead or disappeared, would be recovered.

Fraud and overpayment, the director asserted, are "as old as the laws themselves and will continue as long as the laws are on the statute books with the same basic requirements."

The unemployment compensation law was created by the state legislature, the director asserted, and can only be changed by them.

"It is no wonder in my opinion" he added, "that because of the inadequacy of state laws and the difficulty of administration of fifty-one separate laws in the United States that there has been and is talk of federalization of the whole business."

Hines said legislation to federalizing the systems was ready and

PRODUCTION OF TANKS IN U. S. TO BE DOUBLED

Washington, Oct. 24.—(.P)—Withholding all figures, President Roosevelt announced today that the American program for producing tanks for United States armed forces would be approximately doubled at once.

The chief executive told a press conference that the projected expansion was part of an over-all revision of the defense picture. But the rest of it, he said, will not be ready until later in the fall or perhaps when congress meets for a new session in January.

Mr. Roosevelt would not say what the present tank program called for nor what the increase would provide. That, he asserted, was information which the Axis would like to have.

It does call for many thousand more tanks, he asserted, along with certain items of ordnance relating to them.

The principal reason for the decision to make a tremendous increase in tank output, the president disclosed, grew from the experience in the use of tanks in

DEMANDS CASH PAYMENTS FROM GREAT BRITAIN

Vandenberg Contends Government Getting Paid by English Distributors For Foodstuffs Sent From America

SENATE PASSES BILL

Washington, Oct 24—(.P)—Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich) demanded today that Great Britain be required to reimburse the United States in cash for $1,000 000,000 in food to be furnished under the new $5,985,000,000 lend-lease appropriation which the senate approved yesterday by vote of 59 to 13.

Contending the British government was obtaining immediate payment from English distributors for food stuffs sent to England under the present program, Vandenberg asserted yesterday the net result of the proposed new outlay would be to "syphon virtually a billion dollars out of the United States treasury into the British treasury."

"If we are furnishing materials under this bill that are sold for cash by the British government that cash belongs to the United States treasury," the Michigan senator declared

Proponents replied negotiations were progressing for British repayments on materials thus far furnished.

Taking sides with Vandenberg Senator Taft (R-Ohio) said the measure was liable to turn the lease-lend program into "an international WPA."

"We can dismiss the possibility that Great Britain will repay any of this," Taft told his colleagues yesterday. "We might as well regard the appropriations as a gift of $13 000,000 000 and not as a loan If Great Britain did promise to pay, the debt would be no more good than the one from the last war."

Tomorrow Is Most Important Day In Warren Favorite Baby Election

Tomorrow is a most important day in The Favorite Baby Election, sponsored by the Warren Times-Mirror. It is important and for many reasons, chiefly among them being the fact that it will be the last day to obtain votes—both merchant coupons and subscription—to apply toward winning the special added prize of $25 in cash to the baby turning in the largest amount of votes for the week.

Then, too, tomorrow is important in that it marks another milestone from which will be published the next standing of the babies positions, including a new Honor Roll.

Just four weeks from tomorrow some beautiful baby in this vicinity will be acclaimed "Favorite," receive the huge loving cup and $500 thus honored as few little ones ever have been or ever will be.

It's startling when one realizes that the time has sped so swiftly in this important community affair, the few remaining days between now and Nov. 1st—which marks the first decrease in vote values—are all important and those interested in seeing their favorite little nominee well up

GASOLINE CURFEW IS LIFTED

Petroleum Coordinator Ickes Announces Supplies Built Up on Eastern Seaboard Permit Unlimited Sale to Motorists; British Plan to Turn Back Tankers

LOCAL DEALERS NOT DECIDED ON PROGRAM

Washington, Oct. 24—(.P) The lid was off today on the sale of gasoline and furnace oil in the east, and filling stations again could remain open all night if their proprietors desired.

Harold L Ickes, defense petroleum coordinator who startled eastern householders and motorists last summer with forecasts of an impending oil shortage, announced yesterday the situation had cleared up and signalled for the end of rationing and the nightly curfew for service stations.

The British, he said, are now able to turn back 40 of the 80 or 100 tankers they had borrowed from the United States. When placed back on their old runs, between Gulf ports and the Atlantic seaboards, the 40 tankers can carry as much oil as 14,400 railway tank cars, an Ickes aide said.

Even before the ships were turned back, gasoline stocks had been built back up. On Oct. 18, Ickes said they stood at 19,559 000 barrels in the east, up 82,000 barrels from the 19 477,000 level of a year ago.

Declaring "the bad outlook of the summer has been overcome," Ickes attributed the better outlook to measures inspired by his office, together with warm autumn weather which cut the demand for heating oil

The British were able to return the 40 tankers, the coordinator said, because of greatly diminished sinkings in the battle of the Atlantic. Fifteen of the ships are to be returned by Nov. 1, the other 25 by Nov. 30.

Ickes proclaimed the oil emergency last summer in 17 eastern states and the District of Columbia, and recommended the rationing of gasoline to 100 000 filling stations, a program put into effect Aug. 15 by order of Donald M. Nelson priorities director Even earlier, on Aug 3, Ickes had

SALARY BOOSTS ARE SOUGHT BY STATE WORKERS

Harrisburg, Oct. 24—(.P)—Union workers in the Division of Unemployment Compensation formally petitioned state and federal authorities today for higher pay to meet increased living costs.

The request was presented to Lewis G Hines secretary of labor and industry, and William W Bardsley, regional director of the Social Security board at a conference in Hines' office.

Robert P. Lonergan, business agent of the State, County and Municipal Employes (AFL) asked specifically that the workers be given the maximum rather than the minimum pay for their civil service jobs.

He said his organization represented 2,000 employes of the division, which employs 3,500. Hines said recently he thought the pay increases should be granted.

The conference also was called to discuss new job classification

DETROIT STRIKE TERMINATED BY STEEL WORKERS

Alabama Coal Mines Still Gripped by Walkout; Other Defense Industries Paralyzed by Labor Difficulties

"SELL-OUT" CLAIMED

By the Associated Press

An eight-day interruption of operations at the Great Lakes Steel Corporation in a Detroit suburb ended today when strikers accepted settlement terms and began returning to their jobs.

Other strikes, however, gripped coal mines in Alabama, held up welding operations at some shipyards in the northwest, and paralyzed production at an Ohio machinery factory.

Several automobiles were overturned near Bendix, N. J., after a group of non-striking employes eluded CIO pickets in order to work in the plant of Air Associates, Inc., manufacturer of airplane parts.

One of the principal provisions in the settlement plan called for reinstatement of 16 members of the Steel Workers Organizing Committee who had been suspended by union officials

The walkout, which made 8,600 employes idle, had been termed a "wildcat" strike by both the company and CIO officials Members of the union walked out in protest against wage rates negotiated with the company by union leaders. Members of the CIO rank and file contended the negotiators had sold them out.

The factory makes high tensile steel for use in army tanks and for other armament purposes.

The non-striking employes at the Air Associates plant at Bendix had to outflank a CIO picket line twice yesterday going to and coming from work in a caravan of 150 automobiles. A strike was called September 30 by 100 workers who charged the company with unfair labor practices and failure to sign a contract. In hearings before the Defense Mediation Board the union insisted that 250 members be returned to work immediately. The company, which maintained the plant in operation despite the walkout refused to agree to the union's demand

More than 20,000 Alabama coal miners remained idle while their representatives and the joint conference of Alabama coal operators negotiated for a settlement of their differences. The CIO miners seek an increase of 40 cents a day above the current basic level of $5.50, also paid vacations and additional compensation for washer loss

The mediation board has recommended a wage increase of 25 cents a day, an additional four cents a ton for washer loss and $20 in two installments as vacation pay.

55 FAVOR ARMING OF SHIPS

Informal Administration Poll Shows Six More Than Majority in Senate Would Vote to Permit American Merchant Ships Freedom of Seas; Would Broaden Bill

COMPLETE REPEAL OF ACT BEING PROPOSED

BY WILLIAM B. ARDERY

Washington, Oct. 24—(.P)—An informal administration poll showed today at least 55 senators—six more than a majority—would vote to amend the pending armed ship bill so as to permit American merchant vessels to sail anywhere on the seven seas.

The poll conducted by senators interested in broadening the house-approved legislation lifting the ban against the arming of merchant ships, indicate that a maximum of 60 members would support the suggested amendment to knock-out the neutrality act provisions forbidding merchant ships to enter belligerent ports or designated combat zones.

All indications pointed to an administration effort to expand the pending bill after the senate foreign relations committee concludes hearings this afternoon. One informed senator said the committee vote for granting American merchantment complete freedom of the seas would be at least 12 to 11 and might be 13 to 10, depending on the ballot of Senator George (D-Ga), ranking member of the group.

Another proposal pending before the committee, offered by a group of Republicans and backed by Wendell L. Willkie, would repeal the neutrality law completely.

Democratic Leader Barkley, saying no decision on procedure had been reached, asserted today it was difficult to ascertain whether the senate would give more support to complete repeal than to amendments lifting the present restrictions on ship arming and ship movements.

Senator Pepper (D-Fla), one sponsor of the freedom-of-the-seas amendment, told reporters he would vote for complete repeal if his own proposal failed. "And those who want complete repeal should vote for our amendment if they can't get theirs," he added.

The foreign relations group was expected to vote late today or tomorrow, and Barkley said any neutrality revision it recommended would be taken up in the senate Monday Regardless of whether limited or complete repeal is recommended, however, a prolonged fight on the senate floor was in prospect, even though opponents said they had no intention of filibustering.

Senator Johnson (R-Calif) rank-

SUNDAY MOVIE VOTE IN 15 COMMUNITIES

Harrisburg, Oct 24—(.P)—At least 15 Pennsylvania communities will hold referenda at the November election on showing of Sunday motion pictures.

The question may be placed on the ballot only once in five years, under an act of 1935. This year's voting will be the first under amendments to that act which increased the required number of petitioners asking for the referendum from 5 per cent to 20 per cent of the highest number of votes cast for any candidate in the last election.

The Rev Dr. William B. Forney, of Philadelphia, general secretary of the Lord's Day Alliance of Pennsylvania attributed the small number of places voting on the question on November 4 to the higher number of petitioners required

Ringing of Church Bell Is Started at First Presbyterian

The session of the First Presbyterian church has directed the ringing of the church bell briefly at six o'clock each evening beginning this Sunday. This is to remind all who hear it to pause for a moment in prayer for this embittered and unhappy world, for our own country, for ourselves; seeking forgiveness, renouncing evil, rededicating self to God's will; and asking Divine comfort for the oppressed and suffering, with the coming of a just and lasting peace for mankind.

This action is taken in the hope that Protestants will join with Catholics at the time of the sounding of the Angelus, and that the whole community will join, and that eventually our nation will unite thus in daily prayer as do the people of England today.

Six o'clock may find many employed or on the streets, and probably many sitting down for the evening meal. Everyone is requested, for a moment, to pause and join with all others who desire the blessing of God for themselves and for all humanity.

Licence plates of plastic materials, instead of metal ones, are being considered by some states as a means of saving steel.

Industrial Safety Men Will Hold District Gathering at Oil City

Under the auspices of the Bureau of Inspection, Department of Labor and Industry, Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, a district meeting of industrial safety men will be held in Oil City Thursday evening, October 30, at six o'clock at the K. of C. hall, located at 115 Petroleum street. Safety men in the various industries of the district are invited to attend this meeting. This meeting, sponsored by the State Bureau of Inspection, is in cooperation with the county committees on the conservation of manpower in national defense from the following counties: Crawford, Mercer, Lawrence, Clarion, Venango, Forest, Warren and McKean.

H. C. Hutchinson, supervising inspector of the Bureau of Inspection, Department of Labor and Industry, at Titusville, is in charge of arrangements for the meeting and will be assisted by the factory inspectors under his jurisdiction in northwestern Pennsylvania. In calling this meeting, Mr. Hutchinson makes the following statement: "The substantial increase in employment in industries and other places throughout this section of Pennsylvania, and the extreme pressure under which most employes are working, is bringing about a too great increase in the number of industrial accidents. It is realized of course, that many of these industrially injured are now workers, unfamiliar with shop practices and the operation of machinery, and also there is a large increase in the number of accidents among the other employes, due perhaps to the stepping up of production, also the changing of these men from their usual routine new operations made necessary by the national defense program. The feeling prevails that even with these changes, these men if properly instructed, will be less liable to injury. All accidents that can be prevented, will be a tremendous help, not only to the individual, but in the extreme emergency demand for increased production."

A discussion of ways and means, to decrease if possible, the number of these accidents, will be held at this meeting. The Honorable Lewis G. Hines, secretary of the Department of Labor and Industry for the state of Pennsylvania, Harry D. Immel, director of the Bureau of Inspection and Ross R. Leffler, chairman of the western Pennsylvania committee on the conservation of manpower will be present at this meeting and will speak on this important subject.

Mr. Hutchinson is very anxious to have representation from all industrial establishments. Much can be gained by accident prevention measures being compared with others, all of whom are facing the same or similar problems.

In order to make satisfactory arrangements, it will be necessary to know how many will be present, so reservations should be made not later than Friday, October 24.

Two well known Warren students attending Pennsylvania State College are among 602 pledges chosen during the rushing period. Joseph Cannon, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Cannon, was chosen by Alpha Chi Sigma, and Dudley Johnson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Johnson, was tapped by Pi Kappa Phi.

SOLDIER PICTURED

Growing Nazi Threat in the South

Eyes focused on the Battle of Moscow have overlooked growing German threat in the south, where Hitler's forces have crashed through the Ukraine to the Donetz industrial basin and are close to Caucasus oil pipelines. Map shows how Nazis could cut Soviet oil supply, although capture of the fields would be difficult.

THE EVER-YOUTHFUL Y. M. C. A.

During October the Young Men's Christian Associations of the United States are celebrating the 97th anniversary of the founding of their movement.

Ninety-seven years is a long time. Not many organizations have weathered successfully the wars, social and industrial changes of the past 97 years. The Y. M. C. A. has succeeded because it has remained youthful since that day nearly a century ago in London when George Williams and a small group of his fellow dry goods clerks saw the need for a non-denominational association for young men.

The record of the Y. M. C. A. is one of change, for no organization with inflexible ideas and purposes can exist in full vigor for 97 years. But while its ideas have changed, its ideals have been changeless. It has opposed no change save those that would deny to youth the full development of personality. It has championed no cause but that of young men and their right to more abundant lives.

America today has great need of organizations like the Y. M. C. A. rich in the wisdom of years, but packing the punch of youth. We are confident that whatever these trying times may bring, want or plenty, security or uncertainty, the Young Men's Christian Association will meet any challenge to the rights of young men to build lives based on Christian principles.

Warren's own Y. M. C. A. was organized November 23, 1886, and ever since has been serving youth at the point of their greatest need. The group activities program of the local association during the past year show 800 members from nine years up.

These members participated in 135 groups with definite enrollment, led by 84 volunteer leaders; one board of directors and one board of trustees; 26 groups without definite enrollment; 88 special events (not regular scheduled) under Y. M. C. A. auspices; 17 groups under joint or other auspices. There were 170 interviews with and on behalf of individuals during the year.

In the physical department, 226 persons were given swimming lessons, with 211 passing beginners' tests and 23 passing the Red Cross Life Saving test. Physical examinations given totaled 283. In addition, 12 situations were secured for the unemployed, six persons were led to unite with a church (recording only those cases in which the influence of staff, committee members or club leaders was probably the major factor); 123 boys were enrolled in the summer camp 10 organizations used the building a total of 126 times and 50 free beds were given to transients during the year.

The aggregate attendance for the year for individual use of facilities, including reading room, gymnasium, swimming pool, game room, health service and lobby, was 142,418. For every member the association served during the year there were three non-members served.

These groups and leaders, directors and secretaries—plus building community good-will and organizational experience—are the priceless social assets with which the Y. M. C. A. moves forward with youth into the world of tomorrow.

During the coming week, men interested in this work will give unsparingly of their time to assist the association in its annual "Call to Membership." Undoubtedly one of them will visit you and give you an invitation and an opportunity to become a member, as well as an interested participant and partner in this most worthy enterprise.

HOPE FOR POVERTY ISLANDS

Ever since America acquired the Virgin Islands down in the West Indies they have been a headache for Uncle Sam because they have been poverty islands.

But that is gone.

The main product of the islands is sugar cane. But sugar from the possession did not come into the United States on a basis to compete with the home-grown or the Cuba-grown product. Therefore a federally-owned company, to help the natives made rum out of the cane juice so as to give the people a cash producer.

But alcohol is a far better business product. America faces a shortage of millions of gallons of industrial alcohol because it needs all it can get for the manufacture of smokeless powder. The Virgin Islands can help fill the need. Without great expense their distilleries can be turned from rum to alcohol.

It's an ill war emergency that blows nobody good.

• EDSON'S WASHINGTON COLUMN

BY PETER EDSON
Times-Mirror Washington Correspondent

Washington Oct. 24—In the very middle or maybe it's only the beginning of all this confusion over the readjustments of the defense effort it may seem silly to start worrying about the readjustments of the post-war period but since you aren't considered normal these days unless you're worrying about something it's just as convenient to enlarge the acreage of your bald spot worrying about the future as it is to confine yourself exclusively to present predicaments. So putting away your mournful oboe and unsheathing the piping piccolo here are random notes about the way the readjustments for peace are beginning to be worried about in Washington.

One of the commonest plaints these days is that while these times are tough and while the depression was disastrous, the post-peace treaty panic is going to be worse than both put together—worse than any post-war slump has ever been. Almost any barber shop economist or bridge table seer will tell you so.

The most optimistic of these predictions is that for a couple of years after the armistice, God speed it, business may be pretty good, for industry will have to do a lot of catching up producing the automobiles, refrigerators, radios, washing machines and such stuff the country will not be producing in this era of defense production. But after those few years look out for the deluge. War debts will be terrific, employment will slump off, all these new defense factories will have to shut down. Europe will be starving and it will be up to the western hemisphere to feed the world and rebuild bombed cities and never mind about the bill. So runs this forecast of doom.

The common assumption is that the only insurance against this doomsday now being considered by the government is the building up of a shelf of public works projects, a backlog of WPA and PWA blueprints which can be pulled out on demand, and all the people now employed on defense work can be given boondoggling jobs till the clouds roll by. That's a dismal outlook at best and such a prospect always brings you face to face with the reality that if the country is going to be broke by defense costs anyway how can it possibly pay for multi-billion-dollar public works programs?

An extremist solution to this problem is that the country should be permitted to go through a period of uncontrolled inflation which would in effect permit the payment of the defense bills with cheap currency, wiping all slates clean and letting everything start all over again on a new basis. That of course is jungle law thinking, for any such program would wipe out all savings and eliminate the so-called middle-class at the same time.

In the face of all such crackpot thinking, there is in Washington a growing opinion that the world in general and the United States in particular must not feel that it is licked after the war. One of the problems is to convince enough people that there is this hope, and then build up confidence that the world's ills can be cured by something other than resort to wolf tactics—the survival of the strong and sacrifice of the weak.

Any such change in the approach to the post-war problems naturally can not be effective if it takes the form of ivory tower planning from the top down. It's easy of course, to wish for world stability and say that it would be

• STORIES IN STAMPS

Schoolmaster Became President of Argentina

ARGENTINIANS point with pride to Domingo Fausto Sarmiento known in history as the "School Master President," an outstanding exception to the axiom that school teaching and national politics don't mix.

Sarmiento honored philatelically in Argentina in the 1888 stamp above, stands high in his nation's list of benefactors. He followed the great President Mitre as head of the government and wrought advanced economic and educational affairs of the nation.

Born in 1811, he was forced into exile during the reign of Juan Manuel de Rosas. Sarmiento spent most of his exiled years in Chile, where he founded the first Chilean normal school. He later traveled in the United States and Europe studying educational methods.

He returned to Argentina after the masses had overthrown de Rosas and formed the Argentine Republic in 1853. Sarmiento edited a newspaper upon his return and served as superintendent of schools.

His public service record includes a period as diplomatic representative to Chile, governor of San Juan province, envoy to the United States from 1865 to 1868, and then president.

SENIOR SERVICE SCOUT UNIT IS PLANNED HERE

The new Senior Service Girl Scout program was presented to the Warren County Girl Scout Leaders' Association at its meeting held at the Girl Scout office on Tuesday. The purpose of the movement is to provide for the community a group of girls between 14 and 18 years of age who have had special training in first aid, child care, quantity cooking and other skills which are required in emergencies.

The new program does not replace the Senior Girl Scout program but preparation and training for Senior Service Scouting may be the major activity in a Senior troop if the girls choose it.

Mrs. R. W. Mackay, acting chairman of the program committee who spoke on Senior Service Scouting also reported on the knitting and sewing projects in which Girl Scouts are engaged for the American Red Cross and Bundles for Britain. One hundred pairs of infant's knitted bootees have been promised to the Red Cross on January 1. Two afghans have been completed in addition to ten which were presented to Bundles for Britain in July. Five or six more afghans are under way and a new size is now desired so that leaders were told they should consult Mrs. Mackay before blocks are put together. Small stuffed animals are also requested by Bundles for Britain.

Great enthusiasm was shown in plans for meetings with Miss Katherine Park, member of the Girl Scout national staff, who will be in Warren November 3 to 7. Reservations for meetings are being made rapidly. The first meeting for leaders will be a tureen supper at the Y. W. C. A. at 6 p. m. on Monday, November 3.

The leaders requested that dates for the sale of Girl Scout candy be advanced so that girls may have order books by November 10.

Mrs. A. J. Weiler, who was appointed program chairman for the association, announced that the members of her committee are Mrs. Robert Specht and Mrs. Robert Armstrong.

a nice thing. Doing anything constructive to achieve that end is something else.

Perhaps the most concrete expression of the theory is found in point IV of the Atlantic charter drawn up by President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill. You will probably be hearing more and more about this point which provides for the "enjoyment" of the trade and raw materials of the world by all states, "great or small, victor or vanquished."

Previous to the Atlantic meeting, a special division of the State Department under Leo Pasvolsky had been studying post-war problems and solutions. This research has all been under cover. Not much more open has been the work of the special research department of the Economic Defense Board under Dr. Winfield W. Riefler of Princeton.

Both these staffs have merely scratched the surface. They have nothing definite to report and it is a safe bet they will come up with no single panacea to make everybody rich or even happy. But in approaching the problem from the angles of making an economic rather than a purely political peace there is significance and whatever satisfaction you can get out of it that something was learned from the last war.

POLICE TO CONFER

Pittsburgh, Oct. 24.— (AP) — Three hundred and fifty law enforcement officers from 25 western Pennsylvania counties will attend civilian defense classes here starting Monday.

The course will be one of 54 to be given in other sections of the country through the co-operation of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, which supplies the instructors, and the office of Mayor Fiorello LaGuardia of New York, director of civilian defense. The police officers will study such subjects as wartime duties, blackout enforcement and air raid precautions.

FIXES DOGS FATE

"Greater Allegheny" and Its Leader

Dedication of two new Allegheny College dormitory units for women will give an especial significance this weekend to a convocation honoring Dr. William Pearson Tolley upon completion of ten years' service as president of the Meadville college. Dr. Tolley, who at 40 is still one of the nation's youngest college presidents, will be honored at exercises and a banquet on Friday. His part in the building of the "Greater Allegheny" will also be emphasized on Saturday, when Anna Cloyde Brooks Hall and Walker Hall, shown above, are formally dedicated.

Warren Players' Presentation of "Kind Lady" Is One of Highlights of Club's Long History

In "Kind Lady", 29th public production of the Warren Players Club and current dramatic bill in the Woman's Club auditorium, the combined artistic efforts of a super-cast, miracle-working director, and talented back-stage crew have produced one of the finest shows ever given by the organization.

There are several "musts" to be observed in connection with the show, which opened last night and is to be repeated at 8:30 this evening. The play-goer must be in his seat by curtain time, and it starts promptly at the hour advertised, because the very nature of the drama prohibits admission to the auditorium before the close of the prologue. This, again, is a must if one is to appreciate development of the tale in the interim that proceeds the epilogue.

There must be no wool-gathering on the part of the audience, for to miss a single action, and many are simultaneous, is to miss some detail most important to appreciation of the cleverly built up suspense.

There must be recognition of the fact that one is seeing not an individual actor or familiar friend but a group of actors whose united effort defies selection of particular prominence.

Last, but by no means least, there must not be too great familiarity with the tale if one is to thoroughly enjoy the show. To that end, comment on individual characterizations is reserved until after tonight's repeat performance.

Curtain time is 8:30 o'clock and there are still good seats available for the most dramatic bill presented since "Outward Bound" a few seasons ago.

Methodist Society Hears of War Work

The Woman's Society of Christian Service of the First Methodist church met in Founders hall on Thursday for a one o'clock luncheon served by Mrs. W. F. Mead, Mrs. G. B. Young, Mrs. B. J. Messerly, Mrs. H. C. Rogers, Mrs. D. E. Skillman, Mrs. J. D. Shortt, Mrs. P. D. Belknap, Mrs. A. F. Kottcamp and Mrs. Ethel Johnson.

The business session which followed was held in Dunham parlors and was opened by the president, Mrs. E. S. Briggs. Devotions on "Adversity" were conducted by Mrs. J. C. Latshaw, who in her presentation quoted from the eighth chapter of Romans to bring out the truth that adversity is often the thing which man needs to develop unsuspected capabilities of his personality. She emphasized the fact that adversity cannot be ignored, therefore, it should be made to pay.

Mrs. Briggs brought several matters to the attention of the group, including the Wednesday night prayer service being sponsored by the W. S. C. S on November 12. All were asked to note the date and plan to attend.

A nominating committee was appointed as follows to report at the November meeting for election of officers Mrs. A. F. Kottcamp, chairman; Mrs. E. W. Smiley, Mrs. D. E. Skillman, Mrs. J. C. Latshaw, Mrs. C. C. Winans, Mrs. M. P. Johnson and Miss Gladys Young.

Mrs. W. G. Cable then presented Mrs. E. G. Hamilton, who told of the Bundles for Britain work and gave a detailed report on the chapter's activities since organization.

The closing prayer was given by Miss June Barto, returned missionary from Korea, who is spending the winter with her co-worker, Miss Pearl Lund.

Governor's Bride Begins Housekeeping

(Associated Press)

Back from a honeymoon trip to Virginia, Mrs. Arthur H. James, wife of Pennsylvania's governor, arranges flowers on the piano of the executive mansion in Harrisburg as she takes over management of the home. Note the heavily-flowered wall paper in the mansion, which dates back to Civil War days.

Zelda Johnson Has Chosen Wedding Day

The Misses Monica Jerman and Marian Ullrich entertained at the home of the former last evening in the form of a shower party, given to announce the coming marriage of Miss Zelda Johnson.

Miss Johnson, daughter of Mrs. August Johnson, of Venturetown, will become the bride of Frank Ullrich, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Ullrich, of Beech street.

Games were played and prizes were awarded to the Misses Bette Gilson and Genevieve O'Brien. At a late hour refreshments were served from a very prettily appointed table.

The announcement of the approaching marriage was made through the use of tiny bridesmaids, dressed in pastel shades and bearing placards which bore the inscription "Zelda and Bud, Nov. 22, 1941".

The bride-elect was showered with gifts from the following: The Misses Bette Gilson, Frances Hunzinger, Genevieve O'Brien, Sally Tremaine, Vera Summerson, Esther Sedon, Bernice Lindberg, Marian Anderson, June Landers, Lois Schirck, Kathryn Pearson, Joyce Simpson, Jane Meyers, Cecelia Ullrich, Kathryn Barber, Eileen Turner, Mrs. Kathryn Yonkie, Mrs. Gene Marlowe, Mrs. Veronica Wert and the hostesses.

Many Activities Of Interest at Y. W.

The inter-town institute for all Y. W. C. A's in this section will be held in Oil City on November 13, with Miss Lena Schaedler, of the national staff, leading discussions, according to announcements made by the local association today.

Y. W. C. A. "World Fellowship Week" will be observed from November 9 to 15, it is learned, with the topic for adult members being "Learning Through Suffering", and for juniors, "I Believe".

S. D. Blackman proved a very interesting speaker for the Ali-We-Je girls at their recent club meeting, discussing "City Government." Among other business transacted, the club voted to give a subscription to the Emancipation Campaign of the "Y".

Saturday night is "Recreation Night" at the Y. W. C. A. At eight o'clock there will be supervised recreation in the gym for all who are interested in old-fashioned or folk dancing. At nine o'clock the recreation hall will be given over to those who enjoy dancing. As the need arises, arrangements will be made for other forms of recreation for the Saturday evenings at the "Y".

P. T. A. News

IRVINE MEETING

Mrs. Pastrick presided at the October meeting of the Irvine P. T. A., when a committee was named to devise ways and means of raising money to purchase a flag and flag pole for the school. Clinton Johnson was chosen chairman.

Mrs. Carl Munson, delegate to the Warren conference, gave an interesting report. A piano solo by Valda Luvison was followed by a solo, "School Days," by Doris Carr, with Miss Luvison at the piano. H. L. Blair, county superintendent of schools, spoke on "The Place of Art in the School," giving the requirement for art in each grade. Mr. Blair also showed some interesting pictures. Room four received the attendance prize.

DON'T keep your husband in the dark!

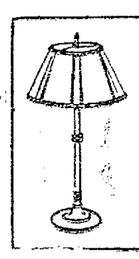
Does your husband yawn, stretch and slump in his chair at 8 o'clock in the evening? Look out! It may be a sign his eyes haven't enough light for easy seeing.

If you have any reason to suspect your lighting is not safe (and scarcely one in ten homes is properly lighted) then do this. Stop in at your electrical dealer and find out about eye-comfort lighting.



IT'S EASY TO HAVE SIGHT-PROTECTING LIGHT!

You can get it from the new I. E. S. lamps that are scientifically designed to give the right light. Or see the clever new "pin-to-wall" lamps that will brighten up any dark corner.

CHILD'S ENSEMBLE IS TAILORED PATTERN 4836
by ANNE ADAMS

Let it rain, let it blow—a tiny miss can go anywhere and still be warm - as - toast in this smart jacket and skirt ensemble! Pattern 4836 by Anne Adams has its own beanie made to match, too. The jacket has a military, double-breasted cut; the suspender skirt is becomingly flared with a center panel back and front, and the straps make it fit comfortably and well. The cap is cut in four sections—it would be adorable made to match a jacket and skirt in bright hop-scotch plaid! Or make both cap and skirt of herringbone tweed; the jacket of solid-color fabric. The Sewing Instructor gives helpful information on finishing this pattern quickly.

Pattern 4836 is available in children's sizes 4, 6, 8, 10 and 12. Size 6, entire ensemble, takes 2⅝ yards 45 inch fabric; jacket, 1 yard 54 inch fabric and skirt and cap, 1⅜ yards contrast.

killing of the German commander there, won brief reprieves while the Germans gave additional time for the capture or surrender of the actual assassins.

The news today from Bordeaux meant that a total of 100 hostages already had been put to death, evenly divided for the assassinations of the Nantes and Bordeaux officers Fifty were executed in the Nantes case on Wednesday.

The German commander at Nantes Lieut-Col. Paul Friedrich Hotz, was waylaid and shot last Monday and on the following day a high-ranking officer named Reimers, counselor of the German military administration at the occupied port of Bordeaux, met a similar fate

If the full measure of the threatened reprisal is carried out, it will make a ratio of 100 lives for one.

The Bordeaux executions brought to 184 the total of French hostages killed for the assassination of five Germans during the occupation.

PLANS PROGRESS FOR HALLOWE'EN IN YOUNGSVILLE

Youngsville, Oct. 24—The high school is making plans for a very fine party to which the community is invited, to be held in the school gymnasium Thursday evening, October 30. Students are asked to come in costume. There will be a grand march and prizes for the best in various classes of costumes both comic and beautiful.

High school groups are preparing a variety of stunts for which prizes are also offered. There will be refreshments.

Business men, with Noyd Engstrom chairman of the committee, are planning a party for the grades on Friday evening. They want to make this a very enjoyable party for the children and any individuals or groups who wish to help financially in this project should see Noyd Engstrom or Ray Crandall.

TOXOID

The school board has approved the giving of toxoid to school children under ten years of age and to pre-school children, but only with the approval of parents. This toxoid is furnished by the state board of health and parents who wish it administered to their children should get in touch with Mrs. Robertson, the school nurse, or with the high school office.

W. C. T. U.

Mrs. C. C. Johnson, assisted by Mrs. George Peterson, was hostess Friday afternoon to the W. C. T. U., when plans for scientific temperance work in the schools was discussed and appointment of a local director of such work was left in the hands of the president. The office is left vacant owing to the fact that the former director, Mrs. C. Donald Dibble, wife of the United Brethren pastor, recently moved to Buffalo. Several readings were given at the program period. A representative of each church present at the meeting promised to seek the co-operation of the different Sunday schools at the meeting financing work in Youngsville. Fine refreshments were served.

LOCALS

Mrs. Anna Kay was injured in a fall in her home Tuesday and is confined to her bed. Friends hope she may soon be much better.

The Stitch-a-Bit Club met this week with Mrs. Dorothy Crandall. Hallowe'en decorations and entertainment appropriate to the season were enjoyed.

Mrs. Arthur Briggs and Mrs. Frank Falconer were in Jamestown this week in attendance at the Thimble Club, of which Mrs. Florence Chrispell, formerly of Youngsville, is a member. The next meeting of the club will be in Youngsville with Mrs. Arthur Briggs hostess.

Kenneth Chrispell is a patient at the Jamestown General Hospital, where he underwent an operation for appendicitis this week.

Warren Kay and John Wolfe, of Sheffield, have just returned from a hunting trip near Avon, N. Y., bringing back the limit in ring-necked pheasants.

Mrs. Paul Reynolds and daughter, of Warren, were guests of the former's parents Thursday.

Civilian Pilot Training Inspector To Speak at Public Gathering to Be Held Here Next Tuesday Night

Results of the Civilian Pilot Training program in Warren since its inauguration at the Warren Airport will be outlined by Capt. E. A. Goff, Jr., chief aeronautical inspector for the first region, ninth district, at a public meeting to be held at the Elks Lodge home next Tuesday evening, October 28, it was announced today.

The CPT program, sponsored by the Warren Chamber of Commerce, was inaugurated here in the fall of 1940 and the third of these classes which are conducted under the auspices of the Civil Aeronautics Authority is now under way.

Special invitations are being extended to members of organizations which aided financially in the sponsorship of students to attend next Tuesday night's meeting here. These organizations include the Conewango Club, Moose Club, Elks Club, Veterans Club and Recreation Center.

In addition, invitations have been extended to Burgess R. W. Steber, officials of the Chamber of Commerce, members of the local service clubs and all others interested in the Civilian Pilot Training program.

The invitations also include any persons who are interested in taking CPT courses. These include young men between the ages of 19 and 26.

Captain Goff, whose headquarters are at the Allegheny County Airport in Pittsburgh, is a former U. S. Army pilot. He is an authority on the Civilian Pilot Training program, having been connected with it since it was established by the CAA.

On his inspection visits to Warren, Captain Goff has been high in his praise of the manner in which the local CPT courses have been conducted. Next Tuesday night's meeting will give the people of Warren an opportunity to learn what this program means to the community, it was pointed out today.

Kinzua

Kinzua, Oct. 23—Mr. and Mrs. Charles Linneman entertained in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Vance Wright, a bride and groom of recent date, at their home in Kinzua on Saturday evening. They were given a miscellaneous shower for their home and dainty refreshments were served late in the evening to the following: Mr. and Mrs. Harry Linneman, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Daynes and daughter, Edna May, of Sheffield; Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Fulton and children, Patricia, Dickie and Janet, Knapp's Creek; Mrs. Ralph Zerbe and daughters, Mary Ann, Doris, Donna and Nancy, and Frank Young, Kinzua. Before going to Warren Mr. Wright made his home with Mr. and Mrs. Linneman, his aunt and uncle, and has many friends here who wish them every success. Mr. and Mrs. Wright were married on the evening of October 4 in the parish house in Wilcox. The bride was Miss Reda Thompson of Wilcox.

Kinzua Boy Scouts are asking that everyone who has old newspapers and magazines to be disposed of to leave them on the doorsteps on Saturday mornings and they will gladly be collected by the Scouts, as they are requesting all waste paper be saved for defense work.

A reception was held recently for Rev. Jack Boyd, recently appointed pastor of the Kinzua and Corydon Methodist churches. There was an attendance of 60 persons. Rev. Boyd is staying at the Holmes Tourist home at present, but hopes to be located in the parsonage in the near future. The parsonage has recently been entirely redecorated, this being necessary following the fire in August which scorched and blistered the woodwork in several rooms and smoked the paper all through the house.

The Alpha Bible Class of the Methodist church held a "Harum-Scarum" party in the community house recently which netted it a neat sum of money. This class during the past summer re-decorated the interior of the church and is now raising a fund to place a bulletin board on the church lawn.

Eighteen young people attended an Epworth League party in the some building last Friday evening, in the form of a "Scavenger Hunt." After all had returned to the club room, a committee served doughnuts and cider.

On Friday evening the Methodist church and Sunday school members are having a six o'clock turkeen dinner honoring Mr. and Mrs.

Mr. and Mrs. Haskins are the parents of a son born in the Bradford hospital on October 15.

The marriage of Miss Ardith Hathaway, of Bradford, and Charles William Holsinger, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Holsinger, was solemnized in the First Presbyterian church in Allegany, N. Y. The Rev. Nicholson read the marriage service.

The bride is the niece of Mr. and Mrs. Bruno Orlowski, of Bradford. Miss Elizabeth Scripture, of Bradford, and Arthur Bishop, of West Branch, attended the couple. A wedding dinner was served following the ceremony at the Allegany Inn, and a wedding reception was held at the Orlowski home later.

Charles Wegner, of Salamanca, N. Y., visited his sister, Mrs. Beulah Cobb, and family last Thursday and Friday.

Miss Eva Crouch spent the weekend with Bradford relatives.

Arthur Vaughn, of Harrisburg Run, was a visitor here Friday.

Maurice Stevens of Meadville, was here Sunday.

LUTHERANS ELECT

Bedford, Pa., Oct. 24.—(AP)—Ministers attending the one-day session of the Allegheny conference of the Central Pennsylvania Lutheran Synod here yesterday elected the Rev. James O. Brosius of Johnstown synod president.

Other officers named were the Rev. Ernest L. Pee of Philipsburg, vice president; Mervin Ross of Bedford, secretary; and L. C. Smith of Altoona, treasurer. The conference includes the counties of Bedford, Cambria, Somerset, Clearfield, Blair and Huntingdon

A Mass-Production Night Club Operator

WHO HE IS

THOMAS P. ENDICOTT, 56, founder of Atlantic City's famous beauty contests, operates an "assembly line" night club. On busy nights he serves champagne, highballs and wine to as many as 5,000 customers, but he refuses to taste alcohol himself and once stated in an advertisement that "I hope my son never does."

Endicott directed the beauty contests the first three years, decreed that even the prettiest legs had to be "decently covered." After a dispute with city officials over the contests, he went to Hollywood and rented out horses and riders for wild west pictures.

He returned to Atlantic City nine years ago. He works furiously four months a year, plays golf the other eight months.

"There are only two ways to make money in this business,—sell a lot of drinks or charge high prices. Since I can't stand moderation (that's why he doesn't drink), I couldn't run a night club that wasn't the biggest I had ever seen. So I have to cut prices to pack a lot of people in a big club. Nothing in my place is sold for more than two bits a throw.

"I sell the best American champagne for two bits. If the price of champagne goes up too much, guess I'll have to toss in a piece of ice. Some people come here and try to swim in it, but I run them out. I can afford to do it, because crowds are waiting at the front door to take their seats.

"Now, when you draw such big crowds with low prices you naturally get family groups. Families won't stand for smutty floor shows. Every employe in this place can sing or dance, and we keep a floor show going continuously for five hours, with no performer appearing twice. "I do all the announcing and story-telling myself, because you can't trust a professional master of ceremonies. Never yet have I seen a professional m.c. who could refrain from at least subtle allusions to sex. What I do between acts is tell the people about my family, the men I've played golf with during 43 years of steady golfing, and the things I've seen. The customers eat it up, and come back for more.

"Everything is mass production here—even the sandwiches. I keep only one brand of champagne, beer, scotch or rye on hand. It's all the best stuff that can be bought in large quantities. If my employes had to spend any time reaching around for special bottles I would need twice as many of them.

"If a champagne cork can't be pulled out in less than a second we toss the bottle to one side and say to hell with it until the night watchman comes in at 2 o'clock."

JACKS OR BETTER, boys. Quit nursing your nickels and decorate the mahogany. . . . Pass. . . . Pass . . Open. Anybody remember to bring coffee? . . . Call it. Sure, somebody must have brought some coffee . . . Yeah, like last time. Raise you five. . . . And five more. Grocery clerks can get out. . . . See it. What about the coffee? . . . You in, Chalky? . . . Two, I am over. Milt, I got two pair. . . .

Three lousy treys! A guy ought to be shot drawing to a pair of treys . . . Maybe I got some coffee. How many cards this time? . . . Two of the best. Why don't you know for sure? Swell place this is gonna be in the morning if we don't have any coffee . . . Bet five . . . I'll call. I got one bag of something that isn't like coffee . . . Nobody else calling? Look at that! Spade flush and only one stayer . . .

Deal 'em, Art. How about taking a look at that coffee, Milt? . . . I didn't say it was coffee, yet . . . I'll open . . . Stay. . . . Stay. . . . Come on, Chalky, make up your mind. . . . Gimme two.

. Maybe Al and Bonnie are bringing some coffee. . . . Not a chance. They're supposed to bring bacon and potatoes. . . . Gimme three. . . . Bet five. . . . I'd sure like a cup of coffee now. . . . June rise, boys. . . . Some guys throw money around like they owned it. . . . Better take a look at that coffee, Milt. . . .

Aces by eights, boys. . . . No good. I gotta straight. . . . Step on it, Chalky, and deal. . . . Anybody look at the eggs to see if any didn't break? . . . What eggs? . . . I'll open. Sorry I mentioned them. . . . Stay. Yeah, one thing at a time. Let's find out about the coffee. . . . Wait until after the next deal. I'm afraid to look . . . Tens by fours and beat 'em. I'm looking right now. . . . Three jacks. Your deal, Pink. . . . Coffee—eh? Well, it'll go nice with some fried fish in the morning if you have some fried fish, but it ain't coffee. It's bread crumbs. . . . Pass! . . . Pass'! . . . Pass!!!

WARREN WOMEN URGED TO JOIN NURSE'S AIDES

The chairman of the Warren Chapter, American Red Cross, appeals today to local women to enroll for training in a Volunteer Nurse's Aide Corps. Women wishing to volunteer for such service should apply at once to the local chapter.

Volunteers for the special intensive 80 hours' instruction course should be between the ages of 18 and 50, able to serve without remuneration and to give at least 150 hours of their time every year.

The defense shortage has revealed an acute shortage of nurses, not only here in Warren, but all over the country. Should there be a great emergency, such as the epidemic of influenza which followed the first world war, present local nursing resources might prove inadequate to handle the situation. To meet this urgent need, the office of civilian defense, with which the American Red Cross is collaborating, has issued a nationwide appeal for 100,000 women to take training to serve as aides to graduate nurses.

By learning how to perform simple routine duties in hospitals and clinics, these volunteers can release the professional nurse for the highly technical work which only she can perform. In addition, they will have the satisfaction of knowing they are playing a vitally important role in civilian defense.

A special Nurse's Aid Committee is being formed in the local Red Cross Chapter. This committee will enroll applicants for the training course, select the instructors, be responsible for maintaining standards and discipline for the corps which will meet with the approval of the nursing profession, and cooperate with the office of civilian defense.

Applications for membership in the training course should be addressed to the American Red Cross in Warren.

Bullet-sealing hose has been developed to protect America's warplanes from "bleeding to death" from bullet wounds in fuel lines. The new hose is an outgrowth of the self-sealing fuel tanks already in use.

Home Accident Deaths Highest In Five Years

Infections arising from cuts and scratches play major role on the home accident front. Above—The kitchen butcher knife is a poor whittling blade, especially when it is drawn toward the body. Right—Falls last year killed 6,000 Americans in their homes. Never use a chair or other furniture as an improvised ladder.

Washington, D. C.—Cancelescence is writing a new stanza to "Home Sweet Home."

According to the American Red Cross, home accidents last year accounted for their greatest fatality toll in five years. Some 33,000 persons lost their lives through falls, burns, poisoning and other hazards of everyday home life. Although less dramatic—consequently less apt to attract public interest—home accident fatalities ran a close second to death on the street and highway, trailing by 1,500 deaths.

With carelessness playing the leading role, more than half of home accident deaths were attributed to falls—occurring on stairs, slippery floors, insecure rugs and use of chairs and other articles of furniture as improvised stepladders. Burns and accidental poisoning followed in that order.

Injuries causing varying degrees of disability accounted for nearly 5,000,000 cases involving hospitalization or care of a physician, the Red Cross pointed out.

To reduce accidents in the home and on the farm, the Red Cross is launching its annual accident prevention program the last week of October. Throughout the nation, in schools and through the Junior Red Cross, some 10,000,000 "check lists" listing accident hazards will be distributed. Householders will be urged to conduct a cellar-to-attic survey to determine and correct

LUDLOW

Ludlow, Oct. 22—A pleasant time was spent in Warren, when the Brotherhood of Ludlow were invited guests of the Brotherhood of Warren at the First Lutheran church. There were 20 from Ludlow present. The program as follows was presented by the Ludlow group. Two musical numbers by the quartette, William Hanson, C. Herman Hanson, Julius Swanson and Carl Swanson; reading, John G. Johnson, vocal solo, Carl Swanson; talk, Gustav Olson; remarks, Rev. Carl Gronquist. After the program a very enjoyable social hour was spent.

The Tuesday Study Club held a very interesting art exhibit and silver tea at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter S. Cox Friday afternoon and evening. There were 150 persons attending from Ludlow and out of town. Piano music was furnished by Mrs. Raymond Shaffer. Artists of importance were John Sloan, well known and from Lock Haven; Alexander Brooke, Georgia O'Keefe and Peggy Bacon. This was a large undertaking for a small group of 12, of which Mrs. B. K. Connelly is president. The upper four grades of the local school, studying art under Miss Ruth Seitz, made a study of the pictures Monday morning, and the senior Girl Scouts, under the leadership of Mrs. W. S. Cox and Miss Dorothy Lytle, on Monday evening. In the spring the same group hopes to exhibit childrens' art at the high school.

Robert Olmsted of Garden City, Long Island, spent the weekend with his mother, Mrs. G. W. Olmsted.

Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Hoover have returned home after visiting for a week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Hoff, of Erie, the latter being their daughter.

Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Hanson were Wednesday evening visitors in Coudersport.

A pleasant Saturday evening was spent at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Lantz when about 35 guests were present for a farewell party honoring Mr. and Mrs. Wilbert Lantz. Mr. and Mrs. Lantz left Monday for Erie where they will make their home. Out of town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Laverne Carlson and Betty Lou Anderson of Jamestown, N. Y.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Bromstong and daughter, Yardis, spent the weekend in Jamestown, N. Y., where they attended the wedding of Miss Anna Nelson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Nelson, and Nils Ahlgren. The wedding took place Saturday afternoon at Levan's.

J. W. Moorhead, of Elmira, N. Y., was a Ludlow visitor Tuesday evening.

Louise Draty, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Draty, celebrated her ninth birthday Saturday afternoon. She received many nice gifts and a lunch was served. Those present were Shirley Swanson, Margaret Ann Swanson, Joanna Johnson, Patty Erickson, Barbara Anderson.

Rev. Anthony Groves, L. M. Groves and Mrs. George Olmsted attended a home coming at Barton Chapel near Sprankles Mills last Sunday. Rev. Groves arrived there 50 years ago this month to be pastor, and was there five years, the longest period a Methodist minister could serve a charge in those days.

OBITUARY

JAY THOMAS COOPER

(Written for the Times-Mirror)

Jay Thomas Cooper died at the Warren General Hospital at 5:40 p. m. Sunday, October 12, following a two weeks illness caused by a cereberal hemorrhage. He was the oldest son of Orrin and Emily Robison Cooper and was born near Lander on January 5, 1852. Had he lived until January, he would have been 90 years of age. His early life was spent in that vicinity and he later moved to Forest county, where he was engaged in the lumber business for many years. He had lived in Youngsville for the past 24 years.

He was married on December 25, 1876 at Garland to Mary J. Barber, who survives with the following children: Mrs. Ava Hinton, Mrs. Emma Linborg, Mrs. Daisy Tellman, Mrs. Ruth Martin, all of Youngsville, and E. L. Cooper, of San Diego, Calif. One son, Orrin L. Cooper, preceded him in death on October 28, 1918 at Chico, Calif. He also leaves to mourn his passing 16 grandchildren and 9 great-grandchildren; one sister, Mrs. Alice Luse, of Irvine.

Funeral services in his memory were held on Wednesday, October 15, in the Methodist church at Garland, with interment in that cemetery. Those acting as bearers were Carl Linborn, Edwin Hinton, Bernard Tellman, all grandsons of the deceased; William Schnell, a great-grandson; Walter Cooper and Francis Zagst, nephews.

Those attending from away were Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Hinton, Mrs. Marie Schnell and Miss Velma Lindborg, Warren; Mrs. Pauline Frost, Pigeon; Mr. and Mrs. Justin Luse, Mr. and Mrs. Francis Zagst, Irvine; Bernard Tellman, Indiantown Gap military reservation; William Scranton and Mrs. Hazel Johnson, Wrightsville.

MRS. VICTOR LOFGREN

Funeral services in memory of Mrs. Victor Lofgren, well known Grand Valley resident, will be held from the home at two o'clock Saturday afternoon. Rev. E. S. Carlon, of Emanuel Lutheran church in Titusville, to officiate. Interment will be made in the Maultby cemetery.

Hilda Larson Lofgren was born April 28, 1864, in Ostorp Vastra Ryd, Ostergotland, Sweden, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lars Peterson. She came to America at the age of 22 and located in Jamestown, N. Y., where on October 8, 1887, she was married to Victor Lofgren. For the past 45 years the family had resided on a farm at Grand Valley.

Besides her husband, she leaves the following children: Mrs. Martin Swanson, Titusville; Mrs. Louis Rhodes, Mrs. Albin Kallberg and Mrs. Edward Seibert, Cleveland, O.; Mrs. Simon Carlson, Edinboro, and Victor Lofgren, Jr., of Grand Valley. Another son, Harold, died in 1917. Also surviving are a brother and sister in Sweden; a brother, Charles Sandeen, of Grand Valley. Two brothers, John Sandeen, of Russell, and August Sandeen, of Jamestown, died several years ago.

among the winners will not lose a single opportunity to gather merchant votes and subscriptions.

These two broad avenues are open to everyone engaged in seeing that their favorite comes in for the everlasting honor and glory of being acclaimed the most popular baby—the Favorite of favorites. One is through making purchases at the stores of the community's merchants who have with this newspaper, made this unique election the fame of which has spread already to surrounding counties, possible. The other is through giving your support by a subscription to the Warren Times-Mirror.

Some of the most recent entrants are right up among the leaders of a week ago and are forging steadily to the front where untold praise awaits and will be heaped upon them when election day arrives. New names are being added each day and with such widespread interest being taken in the beautiful little nominees already listed one wonders if the actual winner has been nominated so far, or whether today, tomorrow or even next week the ultimate winner's name will be placed on the Honor Roll. The enrollment books are still open for more baby names and more pictures are being made for presentation for the public's favor.

influence" figured in the request for Mathews' withdrawal, and Guffey declined comment. Hunter acted "upon his own initiative," Dryden said, adding "The reason for the change was simply the desire of the commissioner to strengthen the administration of the program."

The 917 employes of the state offices, meanwhile, wondered what would happen to other executives, but no answer was immediately forthcoming.

With Our Boys In North Carolina

By Special Correspondence

October 18 1941

Another week of maneuvers is over and it is quite a good time to mention the fact that if you folks don't hear from all of your loved ones who are in this company as often as you think you should please don't blame them because one of the most difficult things there is while you are on maneuvers and that is to write letters. You are so busy trying to catch up on your sleep and a hundred other things that take up your time so you really don't have any time to write many letters

Our week of maneuvers this week consisted of mostly riding around and sleeping out in the open as our regiment was in reserve for the division and we did not have any fighting until the latter part of this week which did not make us the least bit disappointed.

Monday we rode approximately forty miles into South Carolina and there we stayed all night. After spending the night there we prepared to move off but much to our dismay we did not move off until nearly four o'clock that afternoon and then we rode until quite sometime after dark and were bivouaced in another area. This continued for the larger part of the week and we saw no action whatsoever until Friday morning. The enemy was advancing on us and we had our security patrol out in case they tried to pull a surprise attack on us and it seems that they ran right into our outposts before they realized they were so close to us and we immediately set up a defensive position on the brow of a hill just a few hundred yards from the bivouac area. The enemy tried to take the hill at different intervals all morning and failed so they finally decided upon using artillery to wipe us off the hill but the 112th withdrew and the casualties figured were quite small in comparison to the expected toll After some time the umpires decided that the enemy forces could not take our final position which was set up along the base of the hill from which we had just withdrawn. Oh well, it just shows that we do have a fighting outfit and they are getting harder every day now and we know that everyone back home would be very proud of their boys if they could just have the opportunity to see them in action.

Well, next week starts another maneuver and we will try and give you an exact description of our activities and we hope that we will have more to tell you than we did this week.

One of the most interesting things we saw while on our last week's maneuvers was on our trip back to the camp we passed a large group of light tanks on the road and they really were tearing along at quite a rate of speed The fellows all took in as much of them as they could because when we start our biggest maneuver of this period we will have to fight against those big fellows and it surely will be no fun for anyone to have those things coming toward you

Well things are very quiet around camp and things will be so until next Monday morning when this division will again take its place in the field and then you will see action aplenty.

Until next week we will sign off and say, don't forget those letters because they really help out while the boys are in the field as it really gets lonely out there.

I had the pleasure recently of meeting I. F. (Nate) Gaffney, the new president of the Cleveland Whist Club. Mr. Gaffney is one of the national bank examiners and was in New York City on official business. He told me that in accepting the presidency of the Cleveland Whist Club, one of the large units of the American Contract Bridge League, he gave them to understand he was interested only in the "lumpy." If there is one thing he loves to do it is to sit down against a couple of experts and make some kind of bid or play that sends them away from the table talking to themselves.

After you see that Irish twinkle in Gaffney's eyes, you can imagine how well he can do that And before he left New York, he had the pleasure of pulling this one off on a couple of the experts

After the opening club bid, Gaffney, sitting West, bid one heart instead of one diamond. This choice had two objects. One was to try out the heart suit while it could be bid at one But what Mr. Gaffney was really interested in was in concealing his diamond suit.

If North and South held adequate heart stoppers, they might get into no trumps. It often happens a partnership, secure from danger against a bid suit, neglect to explore whether they are safe against unbid suits.

That is just what happened. North doubled one heart to show his strength. In the vulnerability situation, the double was cooperative. South showed spades and North now indicated his club length.

South, up against a guess, decided he could not very well pass, so he proposed no trump North assumed this bid to show diamond stoppers and bid three no trump. Gaffney cashed his five diamonds with great glee.

All who attended the national tournament at Philadelphia last year were sorry to learn of the death of Mrs A. J. Hetherington A great-grandmother with 10 great grandchildren, she had participated in the national tournament with her daughter Mrs Ada H Latham, and her granddaughter.

While preparing for the Philadelphia nationals, I had the pleasure of being invited to dinner at the home of Mrs. Hetherington and Mrs Latham, and we had a most enjoyable evening playing an individual Perhaps Mrs. Hetherington did drop a trick or two with some of her partners, but the best scores I had that evening were made with her as partner. We had a lot of fun out of a little trick play she made against our opponents

Sitting West, Mrs. Hetherington won the opening lead with the ace of hearts, then the queen, which she overtook in dummy with the king. Now she led the jack of diamonds. The idea, of course was to create the impression that she was trying to finesse against the queen. This might work if South held the ace but not the queen. South might then be induced to hold off the ace, whereas on a low diamond lead he would be more apt to jump up in anticipation of a possible singleton king in the West hand

South was fooled. The blank king made and Mrs. Hetherington made the contract losing two spades and one club.

DRAGONS READY FOR INVASION BY BRADFORD TOMORROW

Lighter Owls Rely on Speed To Carry Them to Victory; Leidigmen Seek Seventh Win

Once again this season the Warren High Dragons will hold a weight advantage over their opponents when Bradford's Owls invade Russell Field tomorrow afternoon.

Only once this campaign have the local [illegible] had the advantage of the [illegible] and the time [illegible] could hardly used it [illegible] against the strong Red and Green [illegible] of Jamestown who all [illegible] big youngsters averaging better than 170 pounds to the man.

But [illegible] the B[illegible] said "Jake L[illegible] used their extra weight [illegible] advantage in reaching [illegible] the goal line.

Bradford has a small squad with a few [illegible] but not enough to [illegible] the team weight very much. [illegible] Warren but Bradford [illegible] the locals have the edge in a passing game which the Leidigmen have to toss a [illegible].

Injuries have [illegible] the Dragons [illegible] the P[illegible] again [illegible] to often to get a good [illegible] together [illegible] most of the [illegible] greatest [illegible].

However, the Orange [illegible] brushed off [illegible] to the [illegible] in their [illegible] last year's 19-12 loss at the hands of the Warren boys.

The contest between the Dragons and the Owls [illegible] bringing out a lot of fighting spirit [illegible] both sides and that all makes for a hard-fought game. This is mainly responsible for three stalemates along the way, and numerous in fact the majority of the games being decided by one touchdown or even one extra point down through the history of this colorful series.

The gallant Bradford forces always are working for a victory in this classic to help even up the series in which Warren gained the jump many years ago.

Since 1933 the Owls have come a long way in doing so. The years when the outstanding Joe Bizzaro played brought the rewards to the oil town. Then, too, when Joe's younger brother Dominic and Art Giacotti paced the attack on other Owl elevens more victories were claimed, until the Pfaugmen had copped six of eight contests through last year's fracas, and will be pointing to make it seven of nine here tomorrow.

Meanwhile the Dragons have completed brisk workouts this week in preparation to seek their seventh victory of the campaign, and every regular is ready to play in tomorrow's encounter.

The starting lineup which appears above this story is the same as it has been most of the season, the only post where the starter still cannot be determined is at quarterback, where it may be either Kifer or Bobby Sedon.

The kickoff is slated for 2:30 o'clock and fans are reminded this is the last scheduled home attraction on the Blue and White slate though grid entertainment is being planned here for Armistice Day.

CHANCES SMALL IN GRID POOLS AROUND NATION

BY ROMNEY WHEELER

Atlanta, Oct. 24—(AP)—The football pool may be here to stay, but don't count on winning next [illegible] times. The proverbial Chinaman's odds on pools is a sure thing compared to odds against your [illegible] selection.

D. Robbins A. Hefner of Georgia [illegible] pools hobbies in [illegible] of averages, gave the football pool a mathematical analysis [illegible] years ago. Today he [illegible] gamblers have refused [illegible] rules so that your chances [illegible] are far [illegible] in 1936.

Take [illegible] the trade of tickets [illegible] the one where you are asked to pick four winners from a list of eight or ten games. If you pick correctly you get $[illegible] on $1 you bet.

The [illegible] usually is a parlay of 11 games on a card of 13 games. If successful, you'd be paid 100 to 1.

But what about the odds?

Mathematically says Dr Hefner there are 16 possible ways to pick a four-way parlay: 2,048 ways to pick a combination of winners in 11 games. In short, you should win once if you played the 11-game parlay 2,048 times and side would be paid only 100-1, you wouldn't need an adding machine to figure who made money on the deal.

Five years ago the gamblers were offering 7-1 odds on a four-way ticket, 25-1 on a seven-game parlay. The odds look better today, says Dr Hefner, but here's the catch. Previously it simply was a question of picking the winner. Today the games balance uneven teams by giving or demanding points.

"There are two imponderables in a football pool," explains Dr. Hefner. "One is a person's judgment in evaluating the teams; the second is the possibility of tie games. If the teams tie, you lose. The present system of giving or demanding points greatly increases the possibility of ties. Mathematically, it would be impractical to try to reduce it to figures."

A skillful player, who follows football closely, may better the mathematical odds against probable success, says Dr. Hefner, but not much. There are always upsets that trip the most able dopesters.

WOLVERINES IN HOME FRAY WITH ST. MARYS HIGH

Sheffield, Oct. 24—Sheffield High's Wolverines will play their fourth and final home game of the 1941 grid campaign Saturday afternoon, meeting the Flying Dutchmen of St. Marys Hi in the contest.

The invading Dutchmen own victories over Emporium, Brockway, Weedville and Clearfield and have been defeated by Johnsonburg, 20-0, and Ridgway, 15-0. Their regular lineup consists of Fogge and Squires, ends; Steinbach and Brendel, tackles; Bankovic and P. Martin, guards; DePrator, center; A. Martin, Danzer, Williamson and Walker, backs.

The Wolverines, underdogs in the fray, will play minus the services of Lowell Blake, fullback and leading scorer, who suffered a leg injury in the Johnsonburg game that may keep him out of action the remainder of the season. It is possible that his place will be filled by Marv. Schmidlen, veteran tackle, who in turn would be replaced at tackle by George Schultz. No other changes in the Wolverine starting lineup are contemplated.

The kickoff for Saturday's game is slated for 2:30.

Rockets Clash With Grovers Tomorrow

Grove City, Oct. 24—The midget Crimson halfbacks Jimmy Richardson of Grove City and Major Olmes of Oil City, will get the call here tomorrow when the Grovers attempt something at which they have failed each year since 1934—to beat Slippery Rock Teachers.

Ted Penar of Butler, the ace Crimson runner, will be on the bench, awaiting a spot where his hard, tricky running will do the most good. An injured knee has kept him out of action for ten days. Coach Loveless has assigned Major Olmes to the left halfback post for the Rockets but will have Penar ready for service.

Michigan Punting May Stop Gophers

Ann Arbor, Mich., Oct. 24—(AP)—Michigan's Wolverines hope literally to boot the Golden Gophers of Minnesota off their high and mighty gridiron throne tomorrow.

The punt, one of Michigan's greatest weapons since Fielding H. Yost started teaching football two score years ago, is as effective an instrument as the Wolverines possess today, and has been in the three and one-half seasons Fritz Crisler has been coach.

After seeing his team through its final plotting for Minnesota's downfall, Crisler sat with his aides in the dressing room and recalled:

"In the last three years Michigan teams have blocked 25 punts, and we've never had—

"Don't say it right before this game," begged Line Coach Clarence Munn.

Crisler knocked on a wooden panel and finished what he started—"And we've never had one of our punts blocked."

Munn moaned. Others on the coaching staff also moaned. Then they carefully crossed fingers, put on long faces, and silently left the room.

GOPHERS, TIDE ARE CHOSEN BY AP FORECASTER

BY HERB BARKER

New York, Oct. 23—(AP)—Taking the customary wild swing at the week's football slate:

Michigan-Minnesota: The game of the week, maybe of the season. Both undefeated, both untied both top-ranking outfits. Michigan's feat in toppling Northwestern eclipses anything the Gophers have done so far. Bob Westfall and Tom Kuzma give Michigan plenty of punch and there's been nothing wrong with the defense to date. Still the habit of victory is strong at Minnesota and so is the football guesser's habit of picking the Gophers to win. Accordingly, Minnesota but those Gopher cripples had better be in shape.

Alabama-Georgia: A tough guess. Georgia's a constant threat while Frank Sinkwich is in there pitching or running. Alabama, after a shaky start, seems ready to roll somewhere closer to the standard predicted for the Tide in preseason forecasts. The coin spins... Alabama.

Fordham-Texas Christian: The loss of Kyle Gillespie was a terrific blow to Christian. Taking Fordham.

Washington-Stanford: Ought to make this guess on the basis of a fast, or heavy, track. Stanford doesn't like rain as witness the Oregon State defeat. Counting on cooperation from the weather man. Stanford.

Texas-Rice: Doubt if anyone's going to stop the Texas juggernaut. Texas.

Ohio State-Northwestern: Maybe this is where Ohio State gets off. Not too confidently. Northwestern.

Tulane-Mississippi: Two good Southeastern Conference teams and one of them, Tulane, may be great. Subject to revision. Tulane.

Harvard-Navy: Another real test for the Tars in view of Harvard's great play against Dartmouth. Superior man-power should turn the tide toward Navy just as it did in the Cornell game. Navy.

Army-Columbia: Earl Blaik has wrought a near-miracle at West Point. This Army team is thoroughly workmanlike. But so is Columbia and the Lions have played tougher opposition. Purely a guess, Columbia.

Vanderbilt-Princeton: Unbeaten Vanderbilt.

Notre Dame-Illinois: Stringing along with Notre Dame.

Texas A. and M.—Baylor: Picking the Aggies.

Missouri-Nebraska: The nod, extremely hesitant, goes to Missouri.

HUNTING SURE TO BE BETTER THAN AVERAGE

Harrisburg, Oct. 24—(AP)—Prospects for Pennsylvania's small game hunting season, which opens November 1, appear "generally good," with "fairly plentiful" supplies of all except quail and squirrels, the state game commission said today.

There's a better than average season in store for hunters of ringneck pheasants, declared Ross Leffler, president of the commission, and gunners should enjoy "good" grouse shooting.

"Wild turkeys also are showing up in goodly numbers throughout their range, even though many broods of young were lost when unfavorable weather conditions struck the turkey country at a critical period," he added. Rabbit supplies are expected to be "very favorable" since the animals were abundant during the height of the breeding season.

Supplies of quail and squirrels will be spotty, however, the commission head pointed out, because quail have not yet fully recovered from the severe winter of 1935-36, and squirrel have drifted from many localities in which food supplies have been diminished.

Urging sportsmen to "hunt safely—return safely" Leffler advocated that nimrods wear "a red hat or cap, or other bright red hunting apparel so as to make themselves conspicuous to brother hunters," and cautioned against shooting too close to buildings and roads and improperly carrying guns in the field.

The small game season extends from November 1 to 29, with hunters permitted in the field from 7 a. m. to 5 p. m. daily, except on the opening day when hunting is forbidden before 9 a. m. Traps may not be set before 7 a. m. on the first day of the seasons for trapping in open counties, but raccoons may be hunted at night with a noon-to-noon daily limit.

No open season exists on Hungarian partridges, sharptailed grouse, doves, varying hares or snowshoe rabbits, antlerless deer, elk or cub bears. Red squirrels may be shot in unlimited quantities from November 1 to September 30, 1942.

Mink may be trapped in unlimited quantities in all counties from November 1 to January 31, 1942, but a season limit of four has been set on otters which may be trapped during the same period in only six counties—Lackawanna, Monroe, Pike, Susquehanna, Wayne and Wyoming. Opossums and skunks are unprotected until September 30, 1942, and muskrats may be trapped in unlimited numbers from December 1 to 31.

Beaver trapping, with a season limit of three from February 14 to February 2, 1942, is open in all counties except Carbon, Clarion, Crawford, Elk, Erie, Forest, Lancaster, Lawrence, Luzerne, Mercer, Schuylkill, Venango, Warren and Wyoming counties. One person may set and tend 10 traps only.

Other game seasons, with the season bag limits, are:

November 1-19—Ruffed grouse, 10; quail, bobwhite, 15, wild turkey, one, with season closed in Cameron, Clarion, Elk, Forest, Jefferson, McKean, Potter, Warren and Wayne counties; ringneck pheasants, males only, 12; blackbirds, unlimited; cottontail rabbits, 20; gray, black and fox squirrels, 20 (combined kinds).

November 1 to December 31—Raccoon trapping, 15 in all counties except Beaver, Berks, Blair, Butler, Cambria, Carbon, Centre, Clearfield, Huntingdon, Jefferson, Lancaster, Lawrence, Luzerne and Schuylkill counties, which are closed.

The bear season opens November 19 for three days, while male antlered deer may be taken from December 1 to 13.

SPORT SPATTERINGS

DRAGONS AND OWLS PROMISE DING-DONG GRID BATTLE TOMORROW; MAY HAVE THREE GAMES HERE ON ARMISTICE DAY

All set for one of the neatest programs to be seen at Russell Field this fall, grid fans are expected to turn out in droves to watch the Dragons and Owls push each other around tomorrow afternoon in the last local home game on the schedule this season. It's a good series, too, though it doesn't have quite the punch or enthusiasm wrapped around it which is found in the Warren-Jamestown feud, but for good football the Bradford game often surpasses that with the Red and Green in providing the better grid menu season after season. For both teams play sporting ball, clean and hard-fought football, and give fans the sport as it was meant to be when invented a long time ago. They both want to win and, being only high school kids with limited experience, make lots of mistakes, some of which are costly, yet every youngster goes out there to do his best for his coach, school fellow athletes, fans and, last but not least, for himself. Football is one of the greatest sports known where athletes test their own ability, endurance, strength, find their weaknesses, and realize that the game, as was mentioned in this pillar a few weeks ago, is most like life itself, and everyone is sure that they can expect a ding-dong affair tomorrow afternoon.

Youngsville put the damper on the football double-header which Coach J. B. Leidig was trying to cook up, stating that their game with Sheffield was too close to card another hard fracas so soon after the Wolverine struggle. So, with that decision, "Jake" had to look for some other performers on his program, finally ending up by changing the entire affair. As it shapes up now, it may not be only a double-header, but even a triple bill, with the first game starting at one o'clock Armistice Day, the second about 1:45 p. m., and the feature attraction tentatively set for 2:30, the usual starting time. The plan which the local director of athletics is presently working on is to get a game for the seconds, one for the thirds, and possibly one for the fourths, or include two squads together to meet a reasonably tough enemy. We'd like to suggest that if it sounds at all good, possibly the Dragon reserves be booked against Kane, the Wolves seemingly being a good match this fall for an exceptionally strong Dragon reserve powerhouse. Certainly this should not be embarrassing to Kane, though their team this year is weak, because it's a post-season game for experience. Then, too, one which would draw the fans would be to bring Johnsonburg's Hellzapoppin' gang down against our varsity. And friends, don't think the locals would walk away in such a contest!

Football scouts may say it isn't right, but coaches of Oberlin and DePauw sent each other their basic formations in preparation for Saturday's clash. The reason: The game was arranged hastily after Swarthmore cancelled with Oberlin because of a case of infantile paralysis on its team. "It's cheaper than scouting—and far more accurate," DePauw Coach Gaumy Neal commented. Oberlin's coach, Lysle K. Butler, said "even with the elaborate scouting reports we have had on our first three opponents, we haven't been able to do anything. We might be better off with a report from the opposition coach."

A future batting champ for the New York Yankees baseball team of along about 1965 has arrived, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe DiMaggio. Born yesterday in Doctors' Hospital, New York, predictions are already circulating that some day the lad will follow in his papa's footsteps. Long live the Yanks!

Strong Butler Cubs Plan to Make Trouble for Local Pros Aggregation Here on Sunday

A seasoned team, well drilled and in good condition, not flashy but practical in its play, is the Butler Cubs eleven which is coming to Warren Sunday to meet the Red Jackets in the eighth contest of the season for the local pros.

Still champions though that minor detail has been forgotten by many since their merciless beating at the hands of the South Akron Awnings at Akron last Sunday, 39-0, the Red Jackets may find a stronger bid than they possibly will expect from the Cubs.

The sixth home game of the campaign is expected to draw a large crowd of sectional Jacket fans, being a sort of unofficial homecoming day for the pros, after being away last weekend.

Except for their tie with Trafford, which couldn't be considered as hard luck though there were scoring opportunities which had they been converted into points would have won the contest for Warren, the Jackets have met with all their trouble away from home, thus pointing to the fact that Sunday should be their day on Russell Field.

A quick review of their games this campaign recall the easy 19-0 win over Homewood in the season's opener, a 10-2 decision over Springdale and 10-7 over Whitey Fowle's Pace A. C., then the scoreless tie with Trafford and the 7-7 stalemate with Aliquippa that hectic night "somewhere in Corry," followed by a 13-0 triumph over Beaver Valley on Russell Field and last and least the first loss of the season against the South Akron Awnings, Ohio state semi-pro champs.

But that one defeat hasn't ruined the season for the Red and Gold charges of Paris and Rees and they plan to come back strong on Sunday determined to wrap up their fifth victory this autumn.

Every player that made the trip to Akron is expected to be ready to play, plus those who couldn't make arrangements to go, but who have seen action in home games. Harold Sedon was injured slightly in the game last week-end, but not seriously, being alright now and ready to battle against the Cubs Sunday.

The weekend attraction looms as one of the most promising of the season for local fans, and therefore, with interest already rising over the Butler Cubs, newcomers on the Jacket slate, a good sized crowd is expected to be out at Russell Field at two thirty o'clock to watch the western Pennsylvania champs in the effort to re-establish themselves among the winners.

Philadelphia, Oct. 24—(AP)—Defending Champion Willie Mosconi and his chief challenger, Ralph Greenleaf, can break up a three-way tie for first place by winning tonight in the World's Pocket Billiard Championship tourney.

Mosconi, Greenleaf and Erwin Rudolph now are in a triple deadlock for the top rung. Each has won three games in as many starts. Mosconi and Greenleaf are scheduled to play Arthur Cranfield and Harry Baker, respectively, tonight while Rudolph is idle.

Is it Love? by MARGARETTA BRUCKER

Chapter Nine

Picnic

NOW as she picked up the cake from the table and started back to join him, she experienced a feeling of eagerness, which was unreasonable after all her conclusions. She found herself looking forward to the evening. She made herself believe that it was to please Ginny she had given her consent to go on the picnic.

She found Johnny seated on the porch step, with his brown head tipped back against one of the great columns and his eyes gazing up into the green, shadowy foliage of the magnolia overhead.

He had a fine face. His profile stood out clearly against the white column. He heard her step and sprang to his feet.

"I'm falling under the spell of it," he said, and laughed and held out his hand for the basket which she carried.

"What spell?" But she knew. It was the sweet-scented southern air and the southern moon just rising over the distant treetops and the smell of box and the great columns of the portico. It was all this and more. The traditions which went with all this, the century of gracious living which had gone on in the house behind them. It was part of herself and she understood it and the sudden softening in her feeling toward Johnny, because he understood, made her angry with herself and him.

"The spell of the South," he answered.

She said bluntly "Don't let it get you."

Johnny Harris touched her hand. "It has me already. You know that, don't you, Sue Ellen?"

But she only laughed and moved away from him down the brick-paved walk which led to the gate.

Message From Riv

SUE ELLEN FAIRHOPE returned from the Sunday evening picnic at Heller Hollow and stood for a long time at her bedroom window gazing out into the November night. This evening had changed her relations with Johnny Harris. She had been unsuccessful in turning aside his determination to tell her quite frankly that he loved her. She had tried to convince him that she was engaged to Riv Moore and that they planned to marry in June, and he had stubbornly replied: "A great deal can happen between November and June. A great deal will happen to you—and to me."

"That's true," agreed Sue Ellen. "We may be in the war and that will take you halfway across the country. But as for me—nothing can change between Riv and myself."

Back at Magnolia House, Aunt Car announced that Riv had called shortly after eight and had been greatly upset because she was not at home.

Sue Ellen paused, halfway up the stairway, her hat dangling from her hand, her topcoat over her arm, her hair dark and dusky under the overhead lights, her eyes eager. After this she would be kinder to Riv. She would show everyone that Riv belonged to her. This afternoon had been a mistake and one she did not intend to repeat.

"What did he say?" she asked now.

"That he must see you as soon as possible. That he had something to tell you."

It was unusual for Riv to be so insistent and she felt a slight uneasiness. Possibly her late whim had been a mistake; trying to show Riv that she could have a good time without him might heighten his eagerness to be with her, make him give up flirtations with girls like Deedora Waller, but after all she owed her first loyalty to him.

"He went off this afternoon with Deedora Waller," she told her aunt slowly.

"In my day an engagement meant something." Aunt Car's soft mouth tightened. "Why should Riv want to be with any other girl but you?"

"He doesn't love Deedora; she amuses him."

Aunt Car shook her head. "I don't like it. If he loves you—"

Sue Ellen smiled and turned to mount the stairs. "You forget things are quite different now than in your day."

"Love isn't different," said Aunt Car stoutly.

Was Aunt Car right? Was love the same in every age and did she fool herself when she imagined that what Riv felt for her and what she felt for Riv was love—real love?

A nice thought for a bride-to-be, she told herself.

What had Riv wanted that was so important? Could he have decided to carry out their first plan for a December wedding? She wished that might be the reason why he wished to see her—that Riv's message might hurry up their wedding. Then she would go away from Mississippi and never hear anything more about Camp Shelby. She would never meet Johnny Harris again.

She went to bed hoping that Riv's message would be glad news, although convinced in spite of herself that it was not good news.

What could it be? A longer postponement?

She would refuse to consent to that. She would tell Riv that she could not bear to be separated from him and would persuade him to hasten instead of postpone their wedding.

She ran over in her mind the clothes she would have to buy and how they could be managed. She would call Riv in the morning. She would profit by Johnny Harris's example and announce that she would not do this or that—she would have things her way.

"Some day you will belong to me," Johnny had said. She tried to forget the words and to erase the picture of him standing with the firegiow bright on his thin face, as he told her he loved her.

"I belong to Riv," she said to herself over and over, and tried to believe the words, only to find the thought slipping away from her and the thought Johnny repeated so insistently taking its place.

"Some day you'll belong to me."

Note From Riv

SHE awoke with a start to find that it was late in the morning. Rain beat against her window and drifted across the faded velvet carpet.

She ran across the room in her bare feet to pull down the window, and through the broad magnolia leaves caught a glimpse of a car standing at the gate.

It was Riv's car, but before she could snatch up her housecoat and slide into slippers, she heard the car pull away.

Halfway down the stairs, she saw Aunt Pleas disappearing in the direction of the pantry.

At Sue Ellen's call, she raised her head. "Riv called. His father wants him in Washington immediately. He called, but you were not up, so he left a note."

She held the note in her hand and Sue Ellen ran down the winding staircase to take it from her. She carried it back to her room, sat down on the bed and tore open the envelope.

"Sue Dear," it began. "Sorry to have to rush off like this, especially as there is something you should know and I don't want to discuss it in a letter. I hope it will not interfere with our wedding in the spring. I could not lose you, darling. I love you always. Please—please do not think too badly of me if you should hear any unpleasant gossip before I can see you and explain. —Riv."

The letter fell to the floor. She picked it up and re-read it. What did Riv mean? What must he explain? Could it be the something she had caught in Ginny's glance? In Johnny Harris's startling statement that eventually she would marry him?

After reading Riv's note several times, Sue Ellen forced herself to believe that she was reading all sorts of mysterious things into his letter which simply told her that he had been called to Washington to meet the Colonel. Naturally there would be things for them to discuss upon his return. Naturally he owed her an apology for going with Deedora on Sunday afternoon.

She dressed and went down to breakfast. A morning telephone call brought all her doubts flocking back. Ginny called. She said: "Listen. I think you should know that Riv took Deedora Waller with him to Washington this morning."

"I know—he left a note to tell me."

That being but a half truth, Sue Ellen hastily changed the subject, although her thoughts were not upon Ginny's chatter about the picnic the night before, but upon this new fact which required an explanation. Possibly it was necessary for Deedora to go to Washington and the trip was made upon the Colonel's request. She framed excuses for Riv and at the same time read into Riv's note the reason for his demand that she should not think ill of him. He had come to talk with her, for she had seen him outside in his car. She convinced Ginny, if not herself, that there was nothing unreasonable in one's fiancé acting as escort to another girl.

"Anything wrong?" asked Aunt Car, as Sue Ellen hung up the receiver and, crossing the room, sank down into a chair.

"No—only I wish Riv were not so ready to run about doing things for Deedora Waller. It causes a lot of unpleasant gossip and explanation. I trust Riv," she added hurriedly, as her aunt's face betrayed a rising uneasiness; "it's just that he is impulsive and easily influenced. When we are married things will be different."

Aunt Car neither affirmed nor denied this, but bent over her tapestry.

"After I'm married things will be different, won't they, Aunt Car?" she repeated.

"I've had no experience," reminded Aunt Car briefly.

From the rear of the house came the haunting strains of an old negro spiritual. "I ain' goin' to study wah no moah." Aunt Jennie sang mournfully. Aunt Jennie's mood was always set to music.

the crew of 39, one man working his way and four Spanish stowaways—50 minutes after the explosion and headed east to Freetown. The men were picked up by British vessels.

Reykjavik, Iceland, Oct. 24.—(AP)—The 17 known survivors of the crew of the United States-owned Bold Venture believe that the torpedo explosion which sank her in the north Atlantic last Thursday killed the 19 men listed as missing.

A Canadian Corvette, light war vessel, was credited with saving the lives of the 17. The Corvette crew maneuvered her alongside their foundering lifeboats and picked them up from a cold, rough sea two hours after the Bold Venture went down.

The Bold Venture, a former Danish ship under Panama registry, went down 10 minutes after she was hit, survivors said.

powers a "last chance" to mediate the war through Japan but called them a "very good opinion;"

Declined to say whether the American decision on war aid shipments to Russia resulted from Japanese representations in Washington and said he had no reports yet as to whether a conciliatory gesture by the United States toward Japan was involved;

Observed that whether Japan still would be concerned about oil going to Russia if some were sent to Japan would depend on "the amount of oil for Japan."

IRVINE FIRM IS GIVEN NAVY "E" FOR GOOD WORK

The National Forge & Ordnance Company at Irvine was one of several industries designated by the Navy today to receive an award for excellence.

In a special ceremony this morning in the office of Secretary of the Navy Knox the award was made and the company will be entitled to fly the Navy "E" pennant. In addition the many workmen will receive "E" lapel buttons.

The Irvine establishment was one of 14 commercial companies and seven naval stations to receive Navy recognition.

Secretary of Navy Reveals Situation Extremely Strained

One reason for the attack, which was not confirmed in London, might well be to protect United States war supplies which sail through the Aden gulf and the Red Sea to the Suez Canal for delivery to the British Middle East armies.

On the Soviet war front, the Russians declared officially that several hundred thousand Germans already had been killed in the 23-day-old drive on Moscow and that Nazi losses in four months equalled the total casualties suffered by Kaiser Wilhelm's imperial armies in the four years of the World War.

According to U. S. State Department figures, the Germans lost 1,773,700 killed and 4,216,058 wounded in the 1914-18 conflict—a total of 5,989,758.

"They have not taken and will not take Moscow," said S. A. Lozovsky, official Soviet spokesman.

Nevertheless, Premier Joseph Stalin delegated two of his key marshals to form new Red armies and Soviet dispatches acknowledged that Moscow's position was grave.

The British radio quoted Pravda reports as saying:

"Today Moscow is in danger. We shall never surrender. We must be prepared to see the streets of Moscow become the scene of violent fighting...."

Lozovsky asserted the Germans were still more than 60 miles from the U. S. S. R. capital, countering official German claims yesterday that Nazi spearheads had advanced to within 35 miles of the city.

Serving notice that Russia would never quit, Lozovsky told foreign newsmen that Marshal Semeon Budyenny and Marshal Klementi Voroshilov, withdrawn from the battlefront, had already begun organizing new armies from the vast reservoir of Soviet manpower.

Budyenny commanded southern forces which had been driven back the farthest of all of Russia's defenders, and Klementi Voroshilov, commanded the northern army on the Leningrad front.

Marshal Semeon Timoshenko, a former defense commissar whose displacement by Gen. Gregory K. Zhukov in command of the central front lines was announced earlier this week, has taken over the southern strategy. Who replaced Voroshilov was not disclosed.

For night photography the U. S. Army has developed flare bombs of more than 7,000,000,000 candlepower.

SUPREME LODGE OFFICIALS FOR PHC INITIATION

Approximately 125 persons gathered in the Marconi social rooms last evening to attend an initiation meeting held by the Protected Home Circle. These included a number of visitors from Bradford and Ridgway.

A large class of local candidates was initiated, with Mrs. Ina Meyers as captain of the degree team.

Special addresses were given by visiting officials, including Fred A. Service, supreme solicitor, and Joseph Nelson, supreme assistant secretary, both from Sharon; and Verne Stevens, of Meadville, new state deputy.

After ice cream and cake had been served by the social committee, a pleasant time was enjoyed with dancing.

Next Friday evening local members of the order will have supper at six o'clock, business session at seven and another series of games for the public at eight.

POST AUXILIARY AT SHEFFIELD IS PLANNING DRIVE

Sheffield, Oct. 24—Plans for the annual membership drive were completed and committees for the year were appointed at a meeting of officers of the American Legion Auxiliary at the home of Miss Evelyn Peterson, president, Wednesday evening.

Mrs. Elmer Henry was named chairman of the membership committee, which already has the campaign underway.

Other committees were appointed as follows: Americanism, Mrs. Allen M. Gibson; publicity, Mrs. Orabelle Shick; child welfare, chairman, Mrs. Florence Christian, Miss Elizabeth Anderson, Miss Phyllis Epstein; community service, Mrs. Harold Elder; coupon, Mrs. Delia Plunkett; music, Mrs. Raymond Hahn; national defense, Mrs. Edith Cromwell; poppy, Mrs. Marie Christian; fedac, Mrs. Earl McCaskey; finance, Mrs. John Cochran, Mrs. George Irwin; kitchen, Mrs. Ellen Stenstrom, Mrs. John E. ### CANDIDATE APPOINTED

William Gallagher, manager of the Pennsylvania Bottle Company, has been appointed by the county chairman of the Republican party to replace T. E. Kirch as party candidate for school director in the general election to be held November 4. Mr. Kirch, an employe of the Knox Glass Associates, was nominated in the primary election but has been transferred to East Stroudsburg by his firm, a circumstance which made necessary the appointment of a successor candidate.

LOCAL NOTES

Harold Mickel, employe and sports editor of the Sheffield Observer for more than a decade, has accepted a reportorial job with the Erie Dispatch-Herald. He will assume the duties of his new position on November 3.

Mr. and Mrs. William McIntosh, called here by the death of his mother, returned last night to their home in Erie.

Plans Complete for Opening of "Goblin" Event at N. Warren

Information emanating from the enterprising suburb of North Warren, sometimes known as "Goblinville," indicates that all will be in readiness for the gala opening of the 1941 Hallowe'en celebration next Wednesday evening, October 29.

It is reported that the interior of the North Warren community house has already been transferred to a veritable midway, where the spooks, hobgoblins, and witches gambol nightly in preparation for their four-day reign. Within the next few days the appearance of the entire community is expected to undergo a transformation, as individual householders throughout the village decorate their homes in keeping with the annual tradition.

The "Head Spooks" in charge of the festivities announce that, in order to keep in good standing as a "Little Spook," every householder in the town is requested to indulge in some form of lighted exterior decoration.

Metzger-Wright's Urges You to

This year, more than at any other time, it will pay you to think about your Christmas gifts early. Due to economic conditions over which we have no control, many items will be impossible to re-order at a later date. Each week in this column you will find a few such items as suggestions for your Christmas gifts.

For that "man in your life", especially if he has the urge to travel a bit now and then, we have a fitted case that is decidely different. A genuine pigskin case with a removable tray holding comb, toothbrush holder, hairbrush, clothes brush, lotion bottle, razor and shaving cream case . . . then, as if that were not enough, right in the top is a pair of step-in slippers of pigskin and a detachable mirror, file and scissors. Now, what could be finer for him at $15.

Has that special friend of yours just moved? We know (even if she hasn't) that she'd adore this platform rocker. Very similar to your Grandmother's. You may choose it in either maple or walnut finish with a homespun covering in beige, blue, rose, coral, or green . . . and it will fit into any room in her home. You will like the price too of 11.95.

Do those two newly married love birds get to billing and cooing and forget the toast? Nevermind, just buy them one of the new Toastmasters. All they have to do is slip the toast in and when it is brown . . . up it will pop and they will have delicious toast made to a turn. Did we say "turn"? We meant just that, as it can be regulated for the shade of brown they like best. 11.50 is the price.

Jack Gets Back

Cowboy Jack Crain, whose broken field running has put the Texas grid team on top in the southwest this season, also is rated the best advertising salesman the Texas athletic department ever had. He and two other Longhorns had the job of selling ads for the football program last summer, and while the other boys were taking things easy Crain sold $1,500 more advertising than the program ever had carried.
